

the flip-flop.

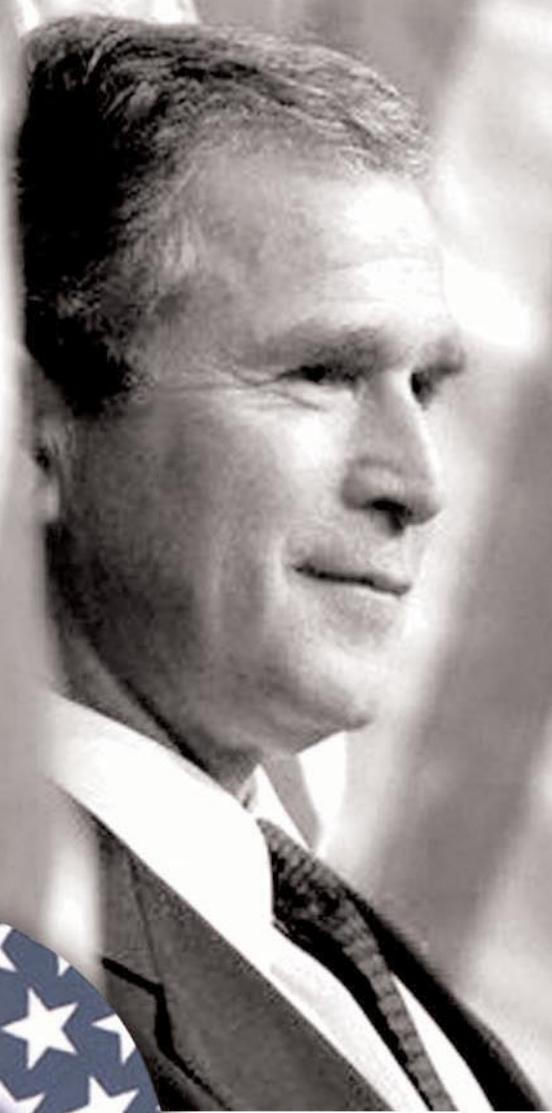

there's no denying it. this is the year of the flip-flop.
and during this election season, there is one candidate who's got more flip-flops than palm beach on a hot summer day.
and guess what? it's not john kerry.

a timeless classic.

an international "favourite" and sure to remain current for many seasons to come. this flip-flop is the ideal excuse for spending a lazy day at the ranch, or sacrificing the lives of american soldiers by invading a country that never attacked you.

step on the constitution in style.

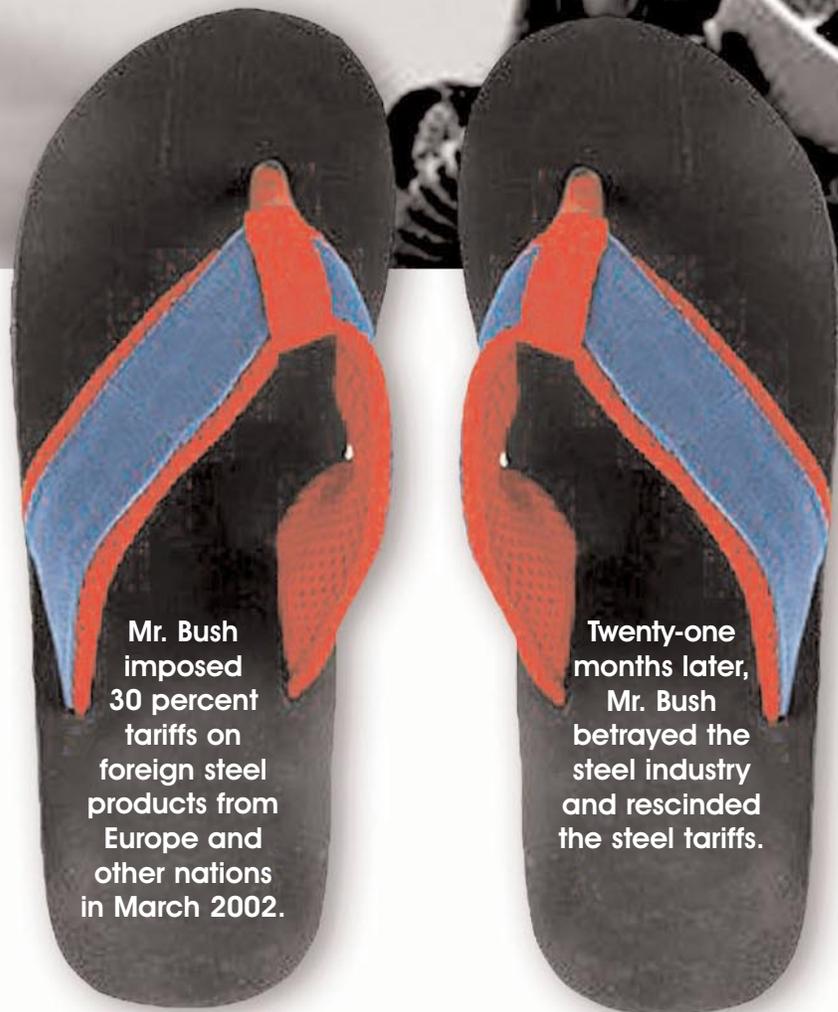

you can't rewrite the constitution and strip people of their basic rights, looking like a "girlie-man". that's why this ultra-masculine flip-flop is right for you. It's hip and fashionable. And you can bet, it ain't designed by no fag!

In 2000, regarding same-sex marriages Mr. Bush says that states "can do what they want to do" on the issue.

Four years later, Bush supports a Constitutional Amendment preventing states from "doing what they want to do".

whether you're a big-time texas oil tycoon or member of the middle-eastern ruling class, this flip-flop is an absolute "must-have" for 2004. the fact that it goes so perfectly with tax-incentives promoting the sale of gas-guzzling suv's, is a "super plus"!

In 1999, Mr. Bush said President Clinton "must jawbone OPEC members to lower prices."

Today, Mr. Bush shows no signs of trying to "jawbone" OPEC, even as prices top a record level of $50/barrel.

Please read carefully: "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves money from the public treasure. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidates promising the most money from the public treasury, with the result that democracy always collapses over loose fiscal policy followed by a dictatorship. The average of the world's greatest civilizations has been two hundred years. These nations have progressed through the following sequence: from bondage to spiritual faith, from spiritual faith to great courage, from courage to liberty, from liberty to abundance, from abundance to selfishness, from selfishness to complacency, from complacency to apathy, from apathy to dependency, from dependency back to bondage." -- Alexander Tyler, 1778
